

DIAMIN

(TECNOLOGIAS ELEMENTALES, MUTANT RADIO, CL)

DIAMIN is a Dj, vinyl collector and environmental scientist born in Chile and based in Berlin, Germany. She has been working in a record store located in Buenos Aires for many years, where she started weaving her style and mixing techniques. Diamin sets cover a wide range of musical genres. She is a perfectionist, very much concerned about the musical environment and atmosphere. Her particular cartography of electronic music explores the roots of techno, focusing on how these sounds intersect with bleep, breakbeat, electro and acid. However outside the nightlife context, and in a more radio-friendly approach she proposes a profile in more experimental directions. From ambient to industrial tribal explorations.

From 2014 she is part of the foundation of the Djs collective Family Affair in Buenos Aires, which is still active and influential on the local scene and beyond. A few years ago, she was also running a party called Transitions at the mythic club Cocoliche in Buenos Aires. Now she is a resident on MARICAS (Barcelona), Mutant Radio (Tbilisi), Lacura (La Plata) and recently she has launched a record label called Tecnologías Elementales.

Diamin played in key clubs like Berghain (DE), Bassiani (GE), Tresor (DE), De School (NL), among others and participated in platforms such as Boiler Room, NTS Radio, Dekmantel Show x Red Light Radio, Groove, The Ransom Note, Crack Magazine, Inverted Audio and more.
