The music project Lyder was born from a fascination with the instrumental playing practice of jazz as well as the love to electronic music production. Under their collaborative pseudonym, Lindsey Wang (Polygonia - beats, FX, vocals, violin), Niklas Bühler (FTP Doctor - FX, piano) and Moritz Stahl (odizouu - FX, saxophone) combine jazz and electronic music genres by fusing improvisation, looping and sound effects into an immersive electroacoustic experience. Their broad musical mood spectrum ranges from harmonic and emotional soundscapes to fast, driving rhythms, which create a hypnotic undertow through multi-faceted sound design.
